“RELATIONSHIP TICKET”

The relationship ticket is a fun way to let people know they are important to you and that you want to keep a close relationship with them.

The ticket can be given for lots of reasons from not getting enough hugs, to trying to get someone to be happier. Use your imagination and you will find a reason to give someone a relationship ticket.

Fill out the “TICKET” to anyone who has neglected your love or who you just want to have more fun with. When you are done filling it out, cut it out on the dotted line and give the ticket.

Directions

Fill out all of the sections of the ticket. You can choose more than one selection in some of the categories to make your ticket more meaningful.

Offender Information - Write the first and last name of the person you will give the ticket to in the offender information section.

Charges - Be sure to assign a charge in the charges section.

Circumstances of Charges - In the circumstances of charges section write a short description of what the person did to deserve a ticket.

Penalties - Don't forget to assign a penalty. This is the whole idea of the ticket. Get the person to do what you want to improve the situation.

Name of Offended Person - This is where you will write in your name.

Cut out the “Relationship Ticket” by following the broken line and give the ticket to the “offender.”

Important Information

This “Relationship Ticket” is for entertainment purposes only. The ticket is in no way intended to simulate a genuine ticket of law enforcement or any document of law. Additionally when giving the ticket, one should not do anything to impersonate a police officer.
